

Hi Readers,

Wow! What a magnificent discussion we had with author Casey Cep at our April Book Group Zoom meeting. Casey Cep is the author of "Furious Hours: Murder, Fraud, and the Last Trial of Harper Lee" and she graciously agreed to participate in our book group discussion. She was articulate, knowledgeable, enthusiastic, and kept us all engaged for an hour and a half. We learned about her research, her interests, her writing, and her next book. What a delight it was to have her join us! Many thanks to Casey and facilitator Monica DeMarco for a wonderful morning!

We have two more book discussions scheduled for this year. In May we will be meeting to discuss "The Rent Collector" by Camron Wright and in June we will be discussing "The Dutch House" by Ann Patchett. Both meetings will be "in person." We will meet in the garden of the Woman's Club, weather permitting. Otherwise, we will meet inside the Woman's Club. Please bring a lawn chair and a mask for the outside meeting. If we have to meet inside, you must be fully vaccinated and wear a mask.

It is the time of year to start thinking about books to read next year. We are currently looking for suggestions for our book discussions for next year. If you have read anything you think we might enjoy, please send Sue or Judy an email listing the title, author and short summary of the book. Also let us know if you are willing to be the facilitator for the book you recommend. You may recommend three books.

Our Book Group year typically runs from September through June. However, several of us are interested in meeting during July and August for book discussions. If you would like to join this summer reading group, please let us know through email.

We hope you are reading lots of good books and we look forward to seeing you in person next month!
